P R E F A C E.

IN presenting to the public the Directory for the County of Forfar, I trust it will be received in the same spirit as has prompted me in compiling it. I cannot go so far as to assert that no faults have inadvertently crept in, but I do most unhesitatingly affirm, neither trouble nor expense has deterred me from endeavouring to make it as complete a work as possible of the kind ever yet published.

I desire to tender my grateful thanks to all who have so kindly assisted me in my arduous work, and I hope it will be found not only satisfactory, but also useful to all classes.

FORFARSHIRE.

THE County of Forfar or Angus, bounded on the west by Perthshire, on the north and north-east by Aberdeenshire and Kincardineshire, on the east by the German Ocean, and on the south by the estuary of the Tay, by which it is separated from Fifeshire, is 38 miles in extent from north to south, 36 miles from east to west in the widest part, and has about 36 miles of coast line—23 of which are on the German Ocean, and over 12 miles on the Firth of Tay. The surface is very irregular, hills and valleys alternating. A portion of the Grampian range of mountains, called the Benchinnan Range, lies in Forfarshire, some of the peaks of which are considerably over 3,000 feet high. The Catlaw hill in the parish of Kingoldrum is 2,196 feet in height, and the Sidlaw range of hills has an altitude of 1,400 feet in the highest part. Some very beautiful and extensive views of the surrounding country and of the Valley of Strathmore, which lies between the Sidlaws and Grampians, are to be had from these eminences. The principal rivers which run through the county are the North Esk, South Esk, Isla, and the Lunan. The lochs are Loch Lee in the parish of Lochlee, Loch Brandy in the parish of Clova, Forfar Loch, Rescobie, Lundie, and Lintrathen, in their respective parishes of the same name, and Balgavies near the Auldbar Railway Station, but there are none of them of considerable extent. Lintrathen Loch, about 2 miles in circumference, is the source from which Dundee draws its greatest supply of water for domestic use and sanitary and other purposes.

Forfarshire is the chief seat of the Scotch linen manufacture, and besides exports cattle, corn, salmon, and paving-stones. There are 54 parishes in the county, and its population at the time the last census was taken in 1881 numbered 266,360, having increased nearly 30,000 in ten years. Area of the County, 890 square miles. Acreage, 569,840. Valuation for 1886-87 :—Lands, £522,952 18s. 2d. ; Railways, £56,307 ; Water Works, £25,679. Gross total, £604,938 18s. 2d. The chief towns are Dundee, Arbroath, Montrose, Forfar, Brechin, Broughty Ferry, and Kirriemuir—Forfar being the county town.

Four Members of Parliament are returned from Forfarshire—one for the County, two for the Burgh of Dundee, and one for the Montrose Burghs, embracing Arbroath, Montrose, Forfar, Brechin, and the town of Bervie in Kincardineshire.

WHITE'S SEMOLINA.

Guaranteed thoroughly Genuine

BEST AND CHEAPEST IN THE MARKET.

Prof. Stirling, Owen's College, Manchester, says:—"One of the finest Semolinas from wheat is made by Mr. JOHN F. WHITE, of Aberdeen and Dundee. It is a very nutritious substance. One must be careful not to confound this substance with similar products obtained from Indian Corn, as the latter consists almost entirely of starch."

R. De Bruce Trotter, L.F.P.S.G., L.R.C.P.E., Perth, says:—"Your Semolina is of excellent quality. It is not only very palatable, but of the utmost dietetic value, and on this account must command an extensive sale, not only for the use of invalids, but on account of its high nutritive value for the daily food of children."

Wm. Jago, F.C.S., F.I.C., Brighton, says:—"Your Semolina is exceptionally fine. I give it a very decided preference over Rice Semolinas, Corn Flours, and other almost pure starches, as an article of food for children and invalids."

THE COUNTY OF FORFAR
AND
BURGH OF DUNDEE DIRECTORY
FOR 1887-88.

DUNDEE,

With the Parishes of LIFF and BENVIE, MAINS and STRATHMARTINE; and the Villages of BIRKHILL, DOWNFIELD, and INVERGOWRIE.

DUNDEE, which is the principal seat of the linen and jute manufactures, although not the county town, is the largest town in Forfarshire, and is situated on the banks of the Tay, about $9\frac{1}{2}$ miles west from the mouth of that estuary. Historically it figures in connection with Prince David of Huntingdon, Edward I. of England, Sir William Wallace, the Duke of Lancaster in 1385, the Reformer Wishart, the Marquis of Montrose, General Monck, and Graham of Claverhouse. It was visited by James V., Queen Mary, James VI Charles II., and by Her present Majesty, Queen Victoria, who landed in 1844 at the West Tidal Harbour, passing up the Middle Quay between Earl Grey and King William IV. Docks, at the top of which Quay was constructed a temporary wooden arch—which in 1848 was replaced by one built of stone, now known as the “Royal Arch,”—as a memorial of the royal visit. Since then Her Majesty, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and several other members of the royal family, have honoured Dundee with their presence by paying it passing visits.

Within the last forty years Dundee has been much improved. Previous to 1847 a considerable portion of the town was supplied with water brought into the town by carts from Invergowrie and Logie and sold to the inhabitants. In that year, however, a Joint-stock Company introduced water into the town by pipes from Monikie. The right to this supply was latterly purchased by the town, but it was found, after the lapse of a number of years, to be quite inadequate to the wants of the inhabitants, and the supply has, since then, been considerably increased by the purchase of the Loch of Lintrathen. The introduction of water from Monikie was followed by a superior system of drainage, carried out in 1853-54, under the management and direction of Mr John Fulton, the then burgh surveyor, which was the means of washing away the impurities and sweetening the atmosphere of many of the closes and lanes. Public Baths were also opened, which, after being managed for a number of years by a board of directors, were taken over by the Commissioners of Police in 1871, being at present managed by them on behalf of the community, and rendered so complete that they are considered one of the best establishments of the kind in Scotland, and comprise Turkish, vapour, and private baths (salt and fresh water), and magnificent swimming baths. Again, by the Improvement Act of 1871, many old densely populated places have been purchased by the town and the buildings demolished, streets widened, and new streets formed in which spacious buildings have been erected. Amongst these improvements are the extension of the High Street by the removal of the old English Chapel (latterly known as the Union Hall) which stood at the west-end, and the taking down of the Trades Hall, which formed the eastern boundary of that street; the widening of the Murraygate at its south end; and the widening of Bucklemaker Wynd, now called Victoria road, which forms one of the principal outlets to the east of the town.

Dundee has two large public parks—one at the east and the other at the west end of the town. The one at the east-end is about 38 acres in extent, and bears the name of the donors, being called the Baxter Park. It cost £50,000. The west-end park, which includes the hill of Balgay, is called Balgay Park, having been formed on the estate of that name.

Dundee is the second seaport in Scotland, many of the finest vessels afloat, both steamships and sailing vessels, hailing from it. Its tonnage at the end of last year was 115,829. In 1883 (the year of the largest importation of jute) 114 vessels, many of them from 1500 to 2000 tons burthen and upwards, arrived laden with that fibre. Owing to the depression of trade, a considerable decrease in the arrivals took place in 1884—scarcely half the number of the previous year. In April of the year 1885, there was a fleet of these large vessels to the number of thirteen anchored in the roadstead, their draught of water preventing them from entering the docks at the then state of the tides, and the sight was really magnificent. In 1884, although there were not so many arrivals with jute from India, 104 vessels having a registered tonnage of 58,410, imported 26,895 tons of flax, tow, hemp, and codilla. Dundee has four wet docks, and two graving docks, and a patent slip. It has also extensive shed accommodation on its quays, a network of rails round its docks, and powerful cranes and machine appliances for the equipment and speedy discharging and loading of vessels. In shipbuilding it carries on an extensive trade—principally in the building of iron vessels, although from its being the principal port whence the seal and whale fishing fleet sails, it also employs a considerable number of workmen in building and repairing vessels suited for the Arctic regions. Machine-making is largely carried on, as also the tanning of skins; but the spinning and manufacturing of jute and linen goods may be considered the staple trade.

Dundee is connected by railway with all parts of the country, and the Tay Bridge, now being rebuilt, has its northern terminus at it. Tramways have been introduced into the town within recent years, and steam power has just been applied to that system of transit. An Act has been passed for a line of railway to encircle the town, whereby the higher parts of the town may be brought more readily into communication with the centre for business purposes. The telephone system has likewise been introduced.

There are also numerous educational institutions in and about Dundee, many of which are of a high order. The University College, founded by the munificence of the late Miss Baxter of Balgavies, and her relative, the late Dr. John Boyd Baxter; the High School endowed by various bequests, and which, four years ago, received the handsome sum of £20,000 from the late Baillie Harris, who also gave £10,000 to the School Board to avert an action by that Board to claim the High School, the outcome of which was the erection of the Harris Institution by the Board in Park place; the Morgan Hospital, built from a bequest of more than £70,000. The town has a Free Library, and many charitable and benevolent institutions, such as the Royal Infirmary, the Royal Lunatic Asylum (which has recently been removed from Albert Street to a new building at Westgreen—the old Asylum buildings being now occupied by the Messrs G. & P. Barrie, for the manufacture of their aerated waters), the Orphan Institution, the Blind Institution, the Deaf and Dumb Institution, a Ragged School, a Sailors' Home, the 'Mars' Training Ship for boys, and others.

Dundee has now its quarterly Courts held by the Lords of Justiciary, which were first opened by the Lord Justice Clerk in the spring of 1865, having formerly, along with the other towns of the county, to send its criminals to Perth to be tried.

In the grounds of the Albert Institute, to the building of which the late Sir David Baxter and members of the family subscribed £13,000, and where the Free Library and Museum is situated, are three statues—one erected to the memory of George Kinloch, Esq., the first member of parliament for Dundee after the passing of the Reform Bill of 1832; another to the memory of James Carmichael, Esq. (one of two brothers, the founders of the firm of Carmichael & Co., Engineers, Dundee), who invented many improvements connected with the steam engine and with the iron trade, freely giving the public the benefit of all his inventions; and the third to the memory of our national poet, Burns.

As regards places of amusement, Dundee has Her Majesty's Theatre and Opera House, one of the most handsome and complete theatres recently erected in the provinces, accommodating nearly 1500 people, divided into five classes of seats. The stage is very large and has the most modern improvements introduced in its construction. The prevailing tones in the internal decoration are cream and gold, relieved by the warmer colour of deep crimson, in which the seats are upholstered. Every precaution has been taken to secure the comfort and safety of the public. An iron curtain closes the proscenium opening. The cost of the building was about £15,000. The lessee is Mr W. M'Farland, who has catered for the amusement loving public of Dundee for the past 18 years, and who is also lessee of the theatre in Aberdeen which bears the same name.

The conveniences for strangers visiting the town are numerous, there being an abundance of temperance, coffee, and refreshment places, some of them largely patronised by business travellers and others, such as Lamb's Hotel in Reform Street, Mathers' Hotel in Crichton and Whitehall Streets, and Young's Dining Rooms, 84 and 86 Nethergate, with many others in various parts of the town got up by parties taking an interest in the temperance cause. Its hotels and restaurants can compare favourably with those in any town in Scotland.

Dundee, with Lochee, a suburb, now sends two members to parliament, having received a second member in 1868. The population at the last census was 140,239.

ARBROATH,

With the Parishes and Villages of ST. VIGEANS, ARBIRLOT, COLLISTON, AUCHMITHIE.

ARBROATH, or as it was formerly called Aberbrothick, is situated on the east coast of Forfarshire, at the mouth of a stream called the Brothick. Its chief manufactures are canvas, coarse linens, boots and shoes, leather, and machinery. It has a population of 21,995, and is a royal and parliamentary burgh, a seaport, with a wet dock, and an amount of shipping. Amongst its principal sights are the ruins of the Tyronensian Abbey, founded by King William the Lion in 1178, and in which, in 1320, Bruce and the Scottish Nobles met to resist the claims of Edward II. to Scotland. This Abbey ceased to be used after 1560, and falling into disrepair, it came to be used as a common quarry. Arbroath also contains some very handsome public buildings—a Town Hall, built in 1806, behind which is the Market-place, erected in 1856, costing about £5,000; a new Guild Hall, Public Hall, and a spacious Drill Hall; the Parish Church, erected in 1791, to which was re-erected an elegant Steeple in 1830; and a number of other Churches of more modern structure. Arbroath is the “Fairport” of Sir Walter Scott’s “Antiquary,” and to the eastward of the town are the caves in the face of the cliffs which forms an attraction to visitors.

BRECHIN DISTRICT,

Including the City and Parish of BRECHIN, and Parishes of CARESTON, FARNELL, FERN, and MENMUIR.

BRECHIN is a royal and parliamentary burgh, situated on the left bank of the river South Esk, about 8 miles west from Montrose, having a population of 9,031. It carries on Spinning, Bleaching, Distilling, and Brewing, and also the manufacture of Sailcloth and Brown Linens, and dates from the Culdee times. It has suffered severely at the hands of invaders, being burned three times—twice by the Danes, and again by the Marquis of Montrose in 1645. The Cathedral of St Ninian, founded by King David I. in the 12th century, but never completed, was partly destroyed at the Reformation, and a portion of it now forms the Parish Church, which has a steeple 128 feet high at its north-west corner. Brechin Castle, the seat of the Earl of Dalhousie, is in the western vicinity of the town, standing on a rock overhanging the South Esk. On the site where the Castle now stands was an ancient baronial fortalice, which withstood a siege of 20 days from the English under Edward I. in 1303, and only surrendered on the death of its commander, Sir Thomas Maule. Trinity Muir—one mile north from the town—is the stance of one of the largest sheep, cattle, and horse fairs in Scotland.

Kinnaird Castle, the seat of the Earl of Southesk, in the parish of Farnell, about 4 miles from Brechin, is considered to be one of the most magnificent seats in this part of Scotland.

MENMUIR PARISH lies about $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles north-west of its post town Brechin. It contains the hamlet of Tigerton, and has a population numbering between 700 and 800.

CARESTON PARISH, also about $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Brechin, has a population of nearly 200. The Castle of Careston, a building of the 15th century, is a seat of the Earl of Fyfe.

Fern parish is $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles to the west of Brechin, with a population above 300.

Population of Parish — 1881, 10,499. Population of surrounding Parishes, Farnell—1881, 613; Fern—1881, 316; Careston—1881, 194; Menmuir—1881, 755.

BROUGHTY-FERRY,

With the Parishes of MONIFIETH and MURROES, and the Villages of BARNHILL and NEWBIGGING.

THE burgh of Broughty-Ferry is situated on the banks of the Firth of Tay from 3 to 4 miles east of Dundee. It has no public works, and is principally inhabited by persons engaged in business in Dundee, many of whom have princely mansions. Having rapidly increased in population since the opening of the Dundee and Arbroath Railway in 1839, it numbered at the last census a population of 7,407. On account of its bathing accommodation, it is frequented in the summer months by large numbers of visitors from inland places. Its ancient Castle, which stands on the shore immediately opposite the village of Tayport in Fifeshire, commands the entrance of the Tay, the breadth of which narrows considerably at this point. In 1860 a monument was erected in Broughty-Ferry to the memory of one of its inhabitants, Dr Thomas Dick, the Philosopher, who died in 1857.

The Town and Parish of Monifieth is situated from 2 to 3 miles to the north-east of Broughty-Ferry, and the parish comprehends the villages of Drumsturdy and Barnhill and the greater part of Broughty-Ferry.

POST OFFICE, Brook street, Broughty-Ferry—Miss Martha Barclay, Postmistress. Letters from all parts arrive (from Dundee) at 6.5, 8.15, 9.45, and 11.15 a.m. and at 6.20 evening, and are despatched thereto at 8.20, 11 a.m., 1.35, 3.20, and 4.30 afternoon, and 5.15 and 8.20 evening. Money Order and Telegraph Office and Savings Bank.

POST OFFICE, Monifieth—David Lowson, Receiver. Letters arrive at 7 a.m., 1.30 p.m., and 6.22 p.m., and are despatched at 11.5 a.m., 3.15 p.m., and 7.50 p.m. Money Order and Telegraph Office and Savings Bank.

POST OFFICE, Newbigging. Letters arrive at 9 morning, and are despatched at 2 afternoon. The nearest Money Order Office is at Monifieth.

CARNOUSTIE,

With the Parishes and Vilages of BARRY, MONIKIE
 PANBRIDE, MUIRDRUM, NEWTON of PANBRIDE, and EAST and WEST HAVENS.

CARNOUSTIE, on the east coast of Forfarshire, is distant about half-an-hour's railway run from Dundee, and 6 miles south-west of Arbroath. It has manufactories for linen, &c., is a post town, and, like Broughty-Ferry, is resorted to in the summer by a considerable number of visitors on account of its facilities for sea-bathing. There is also a splendid Golf Course on the flat and sandy links, principally used by the members of the Dalhousie Golf Club. The population of Carnoustie, with its suburbs, Lower Victoria, Ravensby, Newton, and Westhaven, numbers over 3000. It is situated in the parish of Barry, which lies about one mile and a-half to the west. Barry Links, during a short time in summer, are made somewhat lively by the encampment of Volunteers from all parts of Scotland and the north of England. The Artillery Range here (which is a land range) is considered one of the best in the kingdom.

FORFAR.

FORFAR, the County Town of Forfarshire, is a royal and parliamentary burgh, lying in the Valley of Strathmore about 14 miles north from Dundee, with which it is connected by a direct line of railway, and recently by the Telephone system. It is a station on the Strathmore route of the Caledonian Railway from Perth to Aberdeen, and also connects by that Company's line with Arbroath and Dundee.

Forfar has been a royal burgh since the reign of King David I., and is believed to have sprung from an ancient castle built in the time of Malcolm Canmore, which castle was destroyed by the order of King Robert the Bruce in 1307. The Loch of Forfar, which is close to the town, and about one mile in length, abounds with trout, pike, perch, and eel. The streets of the town are very irregular, but there are some fine modern houses and mansions. The staple manufacture is linen, and there is a good general business. The public buildings are—the County Buildings, founded in 1873; the Court Houses, 1871, the Town Hall, the Reid Hall (a gift to the town by P. Reid, Esq., ex-Provost of the burgh), built in 1871, a number of churches of various denominations, an Academy, a Free Library, an Infirmary, &c. Forfar is represented in parliament by the member for the Montrose Burghs—being included in these burghs. Its population at the last census was 12,818.

MONTROSE,

Including the Parishes and Villages of CRAIG, DUN, FERRYDEN, LOGIE-PERT, and MARYTON.

THE town of Montrose, a royal and parliamentary burgh lying on a peninsular piece of land at the mouth of the South Esk, 30 miles north-east of Dundee, is a seaport, and a seat of the Flaxspinning trade. The building of ships and boats, besides other industries pertaining to a seaport town, is largely engaged in. Bleaching is likewise carried on in the vicinity. The South Esk is spanned at Montrose by two bridges—the Suspension Bridge, 432 feet long, built in 1829. and the North British Railway Bridge, built in 1881.
 The Harbour comprises the reach of the South Esk below the Suspension Bridge, and is deep and well-sheltered, and there is a considerable amount of shipping frequenting the port. The town has some handsome buildings, also monuments of Sir Robert Peel and Joseph Hume, and presents a busy appearance. Its population at the last census was close upon 15,000. The village of Hillside lies partly in Montrose parish and partly in Logie-Pert.

NORTH OF SCOTLAND BANK BUILDINGS.

ALL our WINES and SPIRITS are Selected from the Oldest and Best-known Houses, are shipped direct, and Bottled on the Premises. They are therefore sent out in the most Brilliant Condition, and can be Specially Recommended. Attention is directed to the following

ANALYSIS OF OLD BLENDED WHISKY.

“This is to certify that I have carefully examined a sample of OLD BLENDED WHISKY out of the Stock of Mr. GEORGE LOW, WINE AND SPIRIT MERCHANT, MONTROSE, and report that it possesses every quality of a Good Whisky. The injurious ingredients present in insufficiently-matured Whiskies are absent. I have, therefore, no hesitation in pronouncing this Sample of excellent quality. The strength is considerably above that of Proof Spirit.

(Signed) G. D. MACDOUGALD,

Public Analyst for the Royal Burgh of Dundee and District.”

DUNDEE
CATTLE FOOD.

THE CELEBRATED CATTLE FOOD COMPANY, DUNDEE, beg to draw attention to their DUNDEE CATTLE FOOD for Horses, Cows, Calves, Pigs, Sheep, and Lambs, Poultry, Dogs, &c. This compound is strongly recommended as a Blood Purifier, from which (by guarding against disease and keeping the animals in a healthy state) beneficial results may be expected. To Feeders of Stock it will be found indispensable after a trial.

MARK THESE RESULTS, IF USED AS DIRECTED.—Horses eat better, rest better, work with more spirit, and are kept in better condition. Cows (Milk) yeild a large quantity; Cows (Feeding) fatten more rapidly. Sheep are kept freer from Disease, and fatten very fast. Pigs feed quickly, at a very small cost. Poultry thrive and do well upon it, ensuring a large number of eggs all the year round.

HAY AND STRAW SPICE.

Take 14lbs. of Spice to 1 ton of Hay or Straw, and sprinkle it over as Farmers do with Salt when Stacking, there is no waste when Spiced. No Farmer, Dairyman, or Carter should be without it. 30s. per Cwt.

These being facts, there is no wonder if we say 'Eat Biscuits!' and we recommend Mr Forwell's 'Abernethy' or 'Cabin' biscuits as the most valuable, for there is no fermentation of chemicals employed in their manufacture. . . .
